MBFA UPDATE:

Fighting for Advance Refundings & Shaping the Debate on Infrastructure Financing

MBFA Mission

Municipal Bonds for America (MBFA) is a non-partisan coalition of municipal bond issuers and State and local government officials, combined with senior leadership at regional broker dealers that work together to support the traditional municipal bond market. We work to encourage the creation and preservation of low-cost financing options for State and local governments to fund essential capital improvement projects.

MBFA Priorities & Legislative Update

Preservation of Tax-Exempt Municipal Bonds

The mid-term elections of 2018 presented new opportunities for the MBFA to expand its reach on Capitol Hill as several Congressional seats changed hands and the Democrats took control of Congress. Overall, there were nine new Senators (two Democrats, seven Republicans) and 89 new Representatives (60 Democrats, 29 Republicans). The MBFA Coalition has been very active in educating the newly elected Members of Congress and their staff on the importance of preserving the tax-exempt status of municipal bonds by targeting members with backgrounds in financial services and as locally elected officials. Additionally, the MBFA led a direct messaging campaign to all Hill staff with responsibilities for tax and infrastructure by providing them with copies of the BDA's muni bond booklet, "The Municipal Bond Market: Building America's Infrastructure."

House Municipal Finance Caucus

One of the inaugural founders of the Municipal Finance Caucus, Republican Randy Hultgren (IL), lost his bid for reelection in November 2018. As a result, the MBFA Coalition sent a small delegation to Rep. Dutch Ruppersberger's (D-MD) office in early December to present a list of names as potential replacements to co-chair the caucus in the 116th Congress. Shortly thereafter, it was announced that Rep. Steve Stivers (R-OH) would join Rep. Ruppersberger as the Republican co-chair of the bipartisan group of legislators. As a former licensed securities trader and bank executive, Mr. Stivers has served on the House Financial Services Committee since being elected to Congress in 2011. He and his staff have been very encouraging to work with as they get further involved with municipal finance policy.

Members of the MBFA have supported Reps. Ruppersberger and Stivers by attending fundraisers for them in February and April of this year, respectively.

Advance Refunding Advocacy

The MBFA Coalition has worked very closely with the House Municipal Finance Caucus as a strategic partner in supporting Congressional advocacy for the reinstatement of advance refundings. More specifically, the staff of the co-chairs has leaned on the Coalition for political strategy and support to gain original co-sponsors while they spearheaded the effort to reintroduce legislation to restore advance refundings. Last month (May), the Caucus introduced H.R. 2772 to restore the tax-exemption for advance refunding bonds. Led by the co-chairs of the Caucus, with the help of the Coalition the bill was introduced by 10 bi-partisan original co-sponsors. This is a great first step as infrastructure discussion continue to develop between Congress and the Trump Administration.

Additionally, the Caucus relied heavily on the Coalition to gain 113 signatures from Members of Congress to join their annual Dear Colleague letter in support of municipal bonds.

Private Activity Bonds

Members of the MBFA Coalition continue to advocate and support Congressional efforts that would support the decision to maintain the current-law tax exemption for infrastructure projects that can be funded with private activity bonds (PABs) without being subject to the volume cap. While not all members of the Coalition issue PABs, we stand in support of our members that support proposals that would expand their use for qualified projects as long as the tax-exemption remains untouched.

Bank Qualified Bonds

The MBFA Coalition has not directly advocated on this issue in the past. However, with the current pressure to get an infrastructure package passed in whole, or in part, we have decided to add this important topic to our advocacy items in 2019. The political environment is just right on this issue in particular as we want to make as much forward progress on these tax issues as possible while the tax-writing committees have their books open. In other words, we can have several bites at the apple as Congress remains open to a comprehensive infrastructure plan.
The MBFA believes that Congress should set the bank qualified debt limit at $30 million and provide indexing of the limit for future years. The small borrower bank qualified debt limit should be applied on a borrower-by-borrower basis, rather than aggregating all bank qualified bonds issued by the conduit issuer. Ultimately, we believe this will allow entities to more easily access the capital markets, and sell debt in an efficient, less costly manner, resulting in savings for taxpayers.
